Note – Depending on where students obtain master’s degrees, they may enter the program with 48, 52, or 60 hours. Students who enter the program after completing the master’s degree in counseling with the school counseling track at DSU will be required to take 18 additional hours to earn an Ed.S. degree. If students have a master’s degree from a program that required less than 60 hours, their transcripts will be evaluated against our current master’s in school counseling program of study and they will complete any courses not evidenced by equivalent courses on their transcript.
