

THAD COCHRAN CENTER FOR RURAL SCHOOL LEADERSHIP AND RESEARCH

Going green at Delta State.

March 21, 2011

The goal of the Thad Cochran Center is to facilitate faculty and staff in their research efforts by providing support, professional development in research design/methods/ethics and writing/publication/dissemination, facilitate partnerships/collaboration, and share

Congratulations
Dr. Mistie Barnes

Congratulations Dr. Mistie Barnes

articles accepted for publication

Barnes, M.D. (In Press, 2011). Anger thermometer. In Lowenstein, L. (Ed.). Assessment and treatment activities for children, adolescents, and families, volume 3: Practitioners share their most effective techniques. Toronto, Canada: Champion Press.

Barnes, M.D. & Fortino, J. (2010). Understanding and treating the sexually acting out child. Retrieved from <http://www.lianalowenstein.com>

Help finding appropriate journal is available through the Thad Cochran Center

Sample Journals

College Language Association Journal

Acceptance Rate: 75%

The journal primarily publishes articles on language and literature; in addition, literary criticism and book reviews. Manuscripts submitted for consideration and possible publication should conform to the MLA Handbook, latest edition, in all matters of form.

On the Horizon

Acceptance Rate: 60%

The journal is an international quarterly publication providing analysis and comment on the future of post-secondary education in its many and emerging forms, from traditional institutions to corporate universities, from private/for-profits around the world. Our mission is to inform educators about the challenges that they will face in a changing world and the steps they can take to meet these challenges. On the Horizon draws on the expertise and insights of contributors from a variety of backgrounds and disciplines –educators, public and industry leaders, scholars and other professionals concerned with the future of education—to provide the broadest and most informed coverage of the critical developments that are reshaping the world in which we live and work.

Come to the Thad Cochran Center for assistance finding the right journal for publishing your ideas, papers, presentations, and research. (Receive issue copies, manuscript guidelines, required length, themes, deadlines, editor email addresses, website, sample articles, etc.)

Self Plagiarism

An oxymoron?

No

Can one steal from oneself?

Yes

4 types of self plagiarism

1. Publishing the same paper in more than one journal (duplicate – identical or nearly identical text)
2. Partitioning a large project that should have been reported in a single paper (salami-slicing)
3. Copyright infringement
4. Text recycling (redundant)

For details on self-plagiarism refer to the APA Publication Manual and consider the following websites:

<http://facpub.stjohns.edu/~roigm/plagiarism/>

<https://www.indiana.edu/~tedfrick/plagiarism/> (contains a short quiz that gives immediate feedback on plagiarism)

