

John J. Green, Ph.D.

John J. Green,

Assistant Professor, Sociology and Community Development
Graduate Coordinator,
Community Development
Director, Institute for Community-Based Research

Ph.D., University of Missouri-
Columbia, Rural Sociology
M.S., Mississippi State
University, Sociology
B.A., Mississippi State
University, Political Science

Office: 217 Kethley

Phone: (662) 846-4069

E-mail: jgreen@deltastate.edu

Website: http://ntweb.deltastate.edu/vp_academic/jgreen/

Courses Taught: Community Development, Delta in Global Context, Financing Community Development Projects, Community Development Research Methods, Quantitative Research and Statistics, Social Psychology, Social Problems, Social Theory, Rural Poverty, Field Practicum – Addressing Community Challenges by Empowering Students and Staff (ACCESS)

Research: Community-Based Organizations, Health and Access to Care, Social Dimensions of Disaster, Agrifood Systems, Collective Action and Social Movements, Globalization

Service: Graduate Education, AmeriCorps*Volunteers In Service to America (VISTA), Program Evaluation with Community and Regional Organizations, DSU Year of Health and Wellness, Faculty Research and Scholarship

Other: Director, Institute for Community-Based Research, a Collaborative Partnership of the Division of Social Sciences and Center for Community and Economic Development; Past Chair, Sociology of Agriculture and Food Research Interest Group, Rural Sociological Society.