

Paulette Meikle

Assistant Professor, Sociology and Community Development

- Ph.D., Mississippi State University, Rural Sociology
- M.Phil., University of the West Indies Human Geography
- B.A., University of the West Indies Geography and Social Sciences

Office: 219 Kethley

Phone: (662) 846-4080

E-mail: pmeikleyaw@deltastate.edu

Undergraduate courses taught: Globalization and Food Systems: Implications for Livelihood, Environment, and Health, Gender in a Cross-Cultural Perspective, Community Development in an International Setting, Sociology of Development, Sociology of Community, Social Stratification, Social Theory, Methods of Social Research, and Principles of Sociology. Graduate courses taught: Community Development Research Methods

Research: Civic Engagement and Community Development, Social capital and Community Development, Community Responses to Globalization, Livelihoods among Small, Hillside Farmers and Natural Resource Management among Small Farmers.

Service: Faculty Senate, Diversity Committee, Diversity Strategic Plan Committee, Division of Social Sciences BS in Social Sciences Assessment Committee. Delta Rural Poll Faculty representative. Division of Social Sciences Webmaster. Faculty Advisor to the Community Development Student Organization at DSU.

