

Unpacking and Packing Emmett Till traveling exhibit.

The exhibit comes out of the shipping containers pretty much the same way it will go back in. You'll want to notice that each zippered case is packed in a specific way inside the standing plastic containers. Each panel cartridge is placed inside its zippered case in a specific direction. The shape of the zippered case mimics the shape of the cartridge's slope. You will want to grasp the cartridge not on the plastic end-cap but on the metal end just under the plastic end-cap. Pull straight up and grasp each side of the cartridge to place it on the ground. You will pick up each cartridge from the ground and hold it just the way you have held it when you put it back in the zippered case for packing. The diagram below shows more details on this process.

Notice how the handle lines up with the wheels.
